

Gary Wolf is the Executive Director of Article 27, a nonprofit organization supporting participation in science. From 1993 to 2012 he was a contributing editor at Wired Magazine. In 2008 he founded the Quantified Self, an international collaboration among users and makers of self-tracking tools interested in “self-knowledge through numbers.”

SELECTED PUBLICATIONS

Academic

- 2019 Grant, Azure D, and Gary Wolf. “Free-Living Humans Cross Cardiovascular Disease Risk Categories Due to Daily Rhythms in Cholesterol and Triglycerides.” Journal of Circadian Rhythms 17 (2019).
- 2019 Grant, Azure Dominique, Gary Isaac Wolf, and Camille Nebeker. “Approaches to Governance of Participant-Led Research: A Qualitative Case Study.” BMJ Open 9, no. 4 (April 1, 2019)
- 2019 Grant, Azure and Gary Wolf. “Design and Implementation of Participant-Led Research in the Quantified Self Community.” Quantified Self. <https://quantifiedself.com/white-paper-design-and-implementation-of-participant-led-research/>.
- 2018 De Groot, Martijn, Mark Drangsholt, Fernando J Martin-Sanchez, and Gary Wolf. “Single Subject (N-of-1) Research Design, Data Processing, and Personal Science.” Methods of Informatics in Medicine, 56, no. 06
- 2016 “The Quantified Self: Reverse Engineering.” in Biosensing Technologies in Everyday Life, 2016, 67–72
- 2015 Picard, R., and G. Wolf. “Guest Editorial Sensor Informatics and Quantified Self.” IEEE Journal of Biomedical and Health Informatics 19, no. 5: 1531–1531

Journalism

- 2010 The data driven life. New York Times Magazine (April 28, 2010)
- 2009 Know thyself: Tracking every facet of life. Wired Magazine (June 2009)
- 2008 Want to remember everything you’ll ever learn? Wired Magazine (April 2008)
- 2008 Barcode of Life Wired Magazine (October 2008)
- 2006 The church of the non-believers. Wired Magazine (November 2006)
- 2005 Reinventing 911. Wired Magazine (December 2005)
- 2003 The great library of Amazonia. Wired Magazine (December 2003)
- 2000 The immaterial world. Wired Magazine (June 2000)
- 1996 The Wisdom of Salnt Marshall, the holy fool. Wired Magazine (October 1996)
- 1995 The curse of Xanadu. Wired Magazine (June 1993)
- 1994 The (second phase of the) revolution has begun. Wired Magazine (March 1994)

Books

- 2003 Wired - A Romance. Random House LLC.
- 2000 Dumb Money. Random House LLC, with Joey Anuff

Awards/Honors/Service 2015-2019 Visiting Professor, Hanze University of Applied Sciences, Groningen
2019, Member, Board of Directors, Open Humans Foundation
2010, AAAS Kavli Science Journalism Prize
2005-2006, John S. Knight Fellow at Stanford University

Education

BA History and Literature, Reed College (1983)
MA Political Science, University of California, Berkeley (1986)